Ahead of their Beethoven 9 performance on November 15th, join world-renowned singers Meghan Lindsey, Alex Hetherington, Lawrence Wiliford, and Philippe Sly, alongside beloved Chamberfriend pianist Hinrich Alpers for a more intimate concert of art song in the warmth of MacKay United Church (Beechwood). Weaving together German, English, Canadian, and French repertoire, based upon a shared performance of Schumann's Dichterliebe, this performance will showcase each singer individually as well as some delightful group numbers.

Experience a fresh take on this beloved German song cycle, as pieces from Dichterliebe are interwoven with art song favourites spanning numerous languages and eras. Listen to the way each song responds to the previous one and invites the next, fostering a multilingual conversation about what it means to be a poet in love.

Between the gorgeous German poetry, the inimitable artistry of our four soloists, Hinrich Alpers' pianistic mastery, and a couple of cameo appearances from pianist, Carson Becke and Artistic Director, Carissa Klopoushak, there's no question that this will be an unforgettable night of music-making.
